

Supremacy

Thou

Assume the God form, seize the hidden shape
That sovereign self, celestial aspect
Assume the God form, seize the hidden shape
That sovereign self, celestial aspect

Emerging from the sunken ways
We, the exalted ones
Consumed by inner fires and tortured by fate
Are now elevated

Assume the God form, seize the hidden shape
That sovereign self, celestial aspect
Assume the God form, seize the hidden shape
That sovereign self, celestial aspect

Emerging from the sunken ways
Emerging from irrational depths
Expelling all abstractions
Embracing undiluted essence

Embrace our caprices
Consumed by inner fires and tortured by fate
Open lawless eyes

No longer enthralled in organic rhythms
Flesh falling from the bones
The body crumbles like ruins

Perhaps you remain haunted, obsessed, and unforgiving
Of an unfinished incarnation, malformed and incomplete
Oh, such a sterile fear, that strangling specter
Dragging you back to the shoals to remain forever depthless

While we ascend throughout the aethers
Piercing the infinite veil of an unsuspecting universe
These worlds are ours to own, primacy in solitude

For all those who can only breathe on the heights are always alone
For all those who can only breathe on the heights are always alone
For all those who can only breathe on the heights are always alone

We've defeated our mortality, defeated time, always alone
We've defeated our mortality, defeated time, always alone
We've defeated our mortality, defeated time, always alone
And we will remain alone
