

Into The Gray

Thousand Below

I can recall the day
That I felt like I lost everything in the world.
And I can recall the way.
The way she told me his body was lifeless,
And everything went numb.

I still remember the sound of the silence.
All the worlds are gone like the wind.
And now all love is gone with the ocean.
Now I can barely breathe.
Show me the sound of love.

This is where it left me, I didn't know I could feel like this.
This is where it left me, into the black, into the gray.
This is who I am now, picking up the pieces slowly.
This is who I am now, sever the ties you wouldn't even know me.
This is where it left me, I didn't know I could feel like this.
This is where it left me, into the black, into the gray.