

Learn To Lose And It All Gets Easier

Thousand Below

You used to sleep away
All the time in the world and now you just won't stay
She can say my name
As many times as she needs to
If you need me then I'll see you
We learn to lose and we let go
And I know it's, I know it's
I know it's just overwhelming

But the more that I look, the less that I see
The more that you go, the less that I breathe
The more that I lose, the more that I need
And it's overwhelming
The more that I look, the less that I see
The more that you go, the less that I breathe
The more that I lose, the more that I need
And it's overwhelming

The more that I look, the less that I see
The more that you go, the less that I breathe
The more that I lose, the more that I need
And it's overwhelming
The more that I look, the less that I see
The more that you go, the less that I breathe
The more that I lose, the more that I need
And it's overwhelming
