

Makes Us Stronger

Throw The Fight

The color of her eyes
Was emerald green just like the skies
The night she packed up all her things and walked away

I'm screaming

Sorry for the things I said
You stole my heart and then you left me
Laying here with nothing but regrets

I'm screaming

Calling out your name and waiting for the chance to break you from the pain it eats you up I'm calling out your name and praying for the c hance to break you from the pain it eats you up inside

She called me just to say That every night that you're away
Is just another way to get me out your head

I'm screaming

I'm sorry for the things I said
You stole my heart and then you left me
Laying here with nothing but regrets

I'm pleading

That you will hear my voice and turn around there's nothing left but the ashes of a broken heart

Calling out your name and waiting for the chance to break you from the pain it eats you up I'm calling out your name and praying for the chance to break you from the pain it eats you up inside

Reaching for the stars as I'm lying here waiting for the chance to be your lover again I can't take anymore our lives of broken stitches t hey'll tear us apart at the seams i can't go on without you

Calling out your name and waiting for the chance to break you from the
pain it eats you up Calling out your name and praying for the chance to break you from the pain it eats you up inside calling (I'm just) screaming (I'm just) praying I'm breaking calling

(I'm just)
praying
I'm waiting