

I'll Never Die a Poisoned Death

Throwdown

This conversation is slowly breaking me, my will to live
And the life you're faking seems worth taking more each tortured second that I give Because I know...
... What drives you, breathes inside you, son, don't think I don't Because I've seen it time and time and again, my friend, so many others just like you It is a gift or a curse to see right through the snake in you before it spits?
I'll never die a poisoned death
but maybe ignorance is bliss
But I know
I know
I know why you're here, don't think I don't
I know why you punished me
I know
I'll tell them all your name, don't think I won't Show the world the fool you are
I know what drives you
I know
I know why you're here, don't think I don't
I know why you punished me
I know
I've got everything I need, nothing to prove Can't say I feel the same for you...
...Because I know
