A Timeless Flame

Thurisaz

I put myself down with a feather on my heart
There where the evergreen trees
Sleep their enchanted dreams
Lay myself down in comfortable silence
Nearby the storms that reap my mind

Never to be defeated again
But dead eyes always stare
Counting the hours, searching the night
I try to find some piece of mind
I am weakened by grief
I am a ruler in time
I am a prisoner in reality
I am turning the decay

I hold my breath in search for something...
I have seen it now, we were blinded by lies
Where all fail to hold on
That's where I keep up my faith

Never to be defeated again
But dead eyes always stare
Counting the hours, searching the night
I try to find some piece of mind
I am weakened by grief
I am a prisoner in reality
I am a ruler in time
I am turning the decay

The light that I have seen
Forever in my dreams
Something has awoken inside me
Amazing, could this be?
It's feeling so unreal
The part that has awoken inside me

Getting lost within myself
I dream of unreachable thoughts
Now you carved up inside
Because you're reaching too far

Getting lost within myself
I find myself screaming at night
Now you carved up inside
Because you're reaching too far

A timeless flame
Deep inside my heart
The hope is burning
Deep inside
