

Unhealed

Thurisaz

Caught within these dark and foul days
We chose to go our separate ways
It all seemed right and justified
But the sickened feelings were growing inside of me

A years flew by and things were growing dim
Two unseparate souls each went their way in sin
Nothing more to discover
The passion's gone but the guilt still remains

I know this gesture wasn't meant to be
Some unhealed scars between you and me... I'm losing you
When the pain emerges and strikes my heart
And the longing for your touch carves in my mind...
I'm begging you

And as pain strikes my heart
And the longing for your touch still stands
I know this wasn't meant to be
As nothing's more destructive
Nothing's more relentless
As the bond between you and me