This Sadness Alone

Thursday

and she asked me, where have you been?
i could have sworn i'd lost you again.
my reply: why do you still pretend, that you forgot me?
when my world began to fall,i had to turn and run.
when my world began to fall.
my crys ehoed on, and one.
meloncholy caught in my throught,
sadness alone would never change me.
maybe someday, yeah maybe someday soon,
you wont have to find me.
when my world began to fall,i had to turn and run.
when my world began to fall, my crys echoed on,and one.
and she asked me where have you been?
i could have sworn i'd lost you again.
that you forgot me
that you forgot me
that you forgot me
when my world began to fall, i had to turn and run.
when my world began to fall my crys echoed on, and on.
