

You're My Everything

Tiffany

Here I am, once again
Lying in your arms tonight
Here we are, time keeps going on
With every breath I'm by your side

You're my everything
You're my everything and all
You're my everything in me, all my love

Once again, here I am
Telling you my heart is true
Honestly I can't take the strain
There's no words to pull you through

You're my everything
You're my everything and all
You're my everything in me, all my love
You're my everything
You're my everything and all
You're my everything in me, all my love

In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again
All I am, is all we are
But I'm screaming in the dark
Tell me why we're broken hearts
Burning hope right from the start

You're my everything
You're my everything and all
You're my everything in me, all my love

In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again
In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again

You're my everything
You're my everything and all
You're my everything in me, all my love

In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again
In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again
In a world full of sadness love is a foolish thing
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again
You heal from the scars to break your heart over again