

Inner City Violence

Tim Armstrong

Shut down, boom town, lowdown downtown
Streets go prepare for war
When the law come over, man they run for cover
Opportunity shut the door
When the guns are blazing in the streets of Mogadishu
Baghdad back to Bahru
And I wear my opinion on a dusted white suit
Every time I hear the firearms shoot

No control, street curfew now in play
Violence sustained
Civil liberty's now destroyed
Cursed intimidation brought on by force
Re-generated crime wave
Setting things off course
These days are insane, atrocity's rised
Oppressing systems through the fields now divide
Masses of mankind spewed in God's speech
Can you see in all of this, all the endless deceit?

Shut down, boom town, lowdown downtown
Streets go prepare for war
When the law come over, man they run for cover
Opportunity shut the door
When the guns are blazing in the streets of Mogadishu
Baghdad back to Bahru
And I wear my opinion on a dusted white suit
Every time I hear the firearms shoot

Street signs in taught me about our past
Hi-tech repro systems, annihilates so fast
Fury and anger tried to seminate
This eradivative warfare escalates
Defenses started, no co-opability
High calculated, deadlier restrains
Raining down upon helpless human beings
