

Hallelujahville

Tim McGraw

Born and raised eighteen years
Baptized and saved in a million beers
Nobody famous lives 'round here
And I'm okay with that
She's a drama, she's a mama, she's my country queen
I bust my ass on big machines
Promised her forever at seventeen
And I'm okay with that

Don't call us small town, never have been, never will It's a cold beer sundown and we eat what we kill
We marry angels and dance with the devil in a place where time stands still
Can I get an Amen for livin' in Hallelujahville

Sunday supper we pass the biscuits
Save the grease from cast-iron skilletts
D.C.'s broke and we can't fix it
And we're okay with that
We quote King James like a Waylon song
Pray at night, make love till dawn
Love us or leave us the hell alone
Hope you're okay with that

Don't call us small town, never have been, never will
It's a big time sundown, little house up on the hill
We marry angels and dance with the devil in a place where time
stands still
Can I get an Amen for livin' in Hallelujahville
Hallelujahville

She's sitting by my side, dirt road slow ride
And there's no place that I'd rather be tonight

Baby, this is our town, always has been, always will Pour it out at sundown, hope someday we get our fill
We ain't angels and we run from the devil in a place where time
stands still
Can I get an Amen, yeah, for livin' in Hallelujahville
Hallelujahville
Hallelujahville
Hallelujahville
