

Feeling Good Today

Tim McMorris

A brand new day is here, the sun lifts from it's hiding place
And the light touches my eyes, and brings a smile up to my face
And the world is spinning slowly
I know today, is gonna be, a good day

I'm packing up my things, I'm going out now to explore
Cause there's simply too much beauty, in the world, I can't ignore
I want to, go and see great things
I've seen a little, but want to see, a little more

So I'll take the things I have and hit the road
I'll find adventure waiting in stories untold
Finding freedom every step along the way
Knowing joy and happiness are here to stay
I'm feeling good today

I hear the sound of laughter, and of music on the air
And watch the leaves blow on the trees, that slowly sway without a care
Life is beautiful to me, so much to see, so much to love
So much to share

You see, happiness is not found in the number of my things
But the time I've spent with friends, unmeasured joy it always brings
Like a bird, with each new day, a brand new song it always sings
It's cares away, I'll sing my cares away

So I'll take the things I have and hit the road
I'll find adventure waiting in stories untold
Finding freedom every step along the way
Knowing joy and happiness are here to stay
I'm feeling good today

And I'm full of hope and chasing dreams
The kind that comes, the kind that seems
To lift you up and give you wings to fly

With each morning as the sun does rise
Light hits the air, and fills the skies
If life's a game, then I have won it's prize

Oh - on and on and on I'm goin'
Good is great, when overflowing
Moving on, now only goin' one way
Ya, if you meet me this is what I'll say

I'm feeling good today
I'm feeling good today
Ya, I'm feeling good today