

No Other Gods

Tim Timmons

You have walked with me for miles
And You've brought courage through my trials
Oh God, how You've been good to me

So, here I stack up all the stones
That tell of all the good You've done
Oh God, how You've been good to me

So, I'll place no other gods before You
No other gods before You
I know they don't work
So, I'll place no other one above You
No other thing beside You
You are God alone

So, when my eyes tell me to run
Remind me of the battles You have won
Oh God, how You've been good to me
How You've been good

So, I'll place no other gods before You
No other gods before You
I know they don't work
So, I'll place no other one above You
No other thing beside You
You are God alone

In the morning, You have my attention
In the evening, You have my attention
Every season, the laughing, the breaking
The dancing, the waiting
You have my attention

In the morning, You have my attention
In the evening, You have my attention
Every season, the laughing, the breaking
The dancing, the waiting
You have my attention

In the morning, You have my attention
In the evening, You have my attention
Every season, the laughing, the breaking
The dancing, the waiting
You have my attention

So, I'll place no other gods before You
No other gods before You
I know they don't work
So, I'll place no other one above You
No other thing beside You
You are God alone

I'll place no other gods before You
No other gods before You
I know they don't work
So, I'll place no other one above You
No other thing beside You

You are God alone
You are God alone
