Don't misunderstand me now but when people saw a match in you and

I - I always wondered why

I always thought we were the strangest combination heat and Cold - obedience versus defy

But I kinda figured I'd take one day at a time - may as well
Try - before we said goodbye

But now I realise you've sneaked up on my heart and left me
Loving you this time I can't deny

I have never needed you like this before

Now I don't waste my energy on doubts no more

All of a sudden it seems obvious that this
Was meant to be - they saw through you and me
They saw that underneath that arrogance of Yours I'd find a fragile heart as loving as can be
I know I let you down a hundred times before
I'd sometimes flee - I'm sorry that's just me
But you've convinced me with the strength of this pure love
Now it's my turn to set in to make you see

I have never needed you like this before

Now I don't waste my energy on doubts no more

Did I push you away with my doubts
When I left you lonely then - not knowing when we'd meet again
Did I hesitate for too long
Has your love given up on me - ready now to let it be
I know I let you down a hundred times before
- I'd sometimes flee - so sorry that's just me
But you've convinced me with the strength of this pure love and now
It's my turn - it's my turn to make you see

I have never needed you like this before

Now I don't waste my energy on doubts no more

Now I have never needed you like this before
And what it is you're given me I just want more
Yeah - what it is you're given me I just want more
