

I Loved You

Tina

I dont want to know where are you and why you cause I just hate you day by day more and more...

...when I met you it was something like a miracle your eyes telling me I am the only one

You were giving me everything, showing me all the pretty things , touching my lips,kissing my body..but just till I woke up
Pretty baby why you are telling me that bullshit now whenever I called you just said you are hang it out

We both know we have got this only one thing we can do for us.

Dont worry about me I am gonna be all right all my love was not hing but everyday just fight. But the last thing what I want to say, is that I really loved you.
