

Lows & Highs

Tink

Down, down, down, down, down
Baby, you broke me
Down, down, down, down, down for nothing
I'm looking in the mirror
Can't recognize myself
Baby, you broke me
Down, down, down, down, down for nothing
Baby, you broke me

Don't know how much I can take
Seen this money, turn my dog into a snake, oh yeah
Ain't too many real ones left
I'm hurting and these drugs won't help, oh
I ain't got no time for love
This paper is the only thing I trust
There ain't no loyalty up in these streets
And I'll be damned if they ruin me

Still up on my grind, can't get caught up in no feelings
Tryna move forward but my heart's still healing for real
I've been getting colder by the days
Pop a 30 for the pain (Pain)

People love you then forget you when you tell them 'no'
I've been standing in this rain out here trying to grow
I'm torn inside
Trying to balance out these lows and these highs

Never said I was perfect but I know I'm different
It's getting hard to tell people's real intentions
You around me for the love or just for the clout
Never thought you'd be the one that would sell me out
Hard days and hard times never last long
Street code and ten toes, what I stand on Never let a hard time break me down

Staring at this ceiling and I swear I'm feeling like I'm cursed
Late at night when I'm alone, it's when it hurts the worst
'Cause it's lonely when you at the top
It's so lonely when you at the top

People love you, then forget you when you tell them 'no'
I've been standing in this rain out here trying to grow
I'm torn inside
Trying to balance out these lows and these highs

Trying to balance out these lows and these highs
Trying to balance out these lows and these highs
Trying to balance out these lows and these highs
Trying to balance out these lows and these highs

Down, down, down, down, down
Baby, you broke me
Down, down, down, down, down for nothing
I'm looking in the mirror
