

Before I Go

Tiny Moving Parts

The clock strikes twelve
I'm wasted alone again
I refuse to leave until every bottle's finished
My eyes are rolling backwards
I'm drowning in self-doubt
I swear to god I'll never figure this out
(I swear to god I'll never-)

Stuck in a landslide
My confidence is killing me
Inside I need to let you know
I want to go home, I wanna go home
I need an answer before I go
I need an answer before I go

The clock strikes twelve
Will you ever come back?
Or leave me stranded on this island thinking of the past?

I'm slowly foaming out the mouth
Slowly foaming out the mouth
My teeth are swimming down the sink
I'm constantly dismantling
Reverse the forecast
I need to sleep

Stuck in a landslide
My confidence is killing me
Inside I need to let you know
I want to go home, I wanna go home
I need an answer
(I need an answer)
(I want to go home, I wanna go home)
(I need an answer)

At what cost will you spit it out?
I deserve to know, I deserve to know
My eyes
Turning backwards
Slowly, slowly backwards
At what cost will you spit it out?
'Cause I deserve to know, I deserve to
My eyes
Turning backwards
(Slowly, slowly)
Backwards
Spit it out

(Stuck in a landslide)
(My confidence is killing me)
(Inside, inside)
(I want to go home, I wanna go home)
(I need an answer before I go)
