

Decibel

Tiny Moving Parts

Fight like lions in the tundra every night
The slightest glimpse of solid joy could save your life
Twirl into the sunset
Save your life
Like a midwest slow dance

We're always searching for ways to relax
But you tend to go crazy when you think about the past
A reminder, a moment, the smell of a town
Certain volumes are too loud
It's quite tragic how
I'm just a lonely decibel in a giant crowd

Fight like lions in the tundra every night
The slightest glimpse of solid joy could save your life
Twirl into the sunset
Save your life
Like a midwest slow dance

I'm just a lonely decibel in a giant crowd
It's quite tragic how, I'll never be allowed
I'm always silent, I can barely shiver up a sound

My knees are going out. Body is curling backwards
I can't comprehend the mechanics, please help me understand
I swear I'll try my best, I hope that is enough
I swear I'll try my best when the times are getting rough

I'll fight
I'll fight

Fight like lions in the tundra every night
I'm just a lonely decibel in a giant crowd
I'm always silent, I can barely shiver up a sound
I'm just a lonely decibel in a giant crowd
I'm always silent, I can barely shiver up a sound
