

Jessica Hahn I

Tiny Tim

There's another song

Oh, please

Stephanie

Oh

One of your originals, 1 of my favorite songs

I Used To Love Jessica Hahn But Now I Love Stephanie Bohn

Thank you for reminding me of that. Oh, Mister Burnett. I forgot that

And maybe you should proceed that with with the Jessica Hahn song

Oh, what a great idea. That in the stand No wonder you're a genius. I tell you, in this situation here, the only one and only time I appeared on the Arsenio Hall show, was in 19, I think, 89 or 90. I can't remember these things. That's when he first started. Now, I'd written a song for Jessica Hahn, who I happened to meet at Howard Stern's birthday party in 88 January. I lived in New York at that time, at the Allcott Hotel, and Mister Stern did his birthday party a few blocks away, on 72nd and Broadway. She came in, Jessica Hahn. Boy, was she a goddess. And I tell you, if I was in the room alone, I would've needed prayer. I mean, doggone it, she was some woman. I mean, and I'd written this song for her

Jessica Hahn, Jessica Hahn

I bless the day you were born

I'd love to get caught in the storm with

Jessica, Jessica Hahn

Jessica Hahn, Jessica Hahn

I bless that day you were born

I'd love to get caught in that storm with

Jessica, Jessica Hahn

Jim Baker came into your room

Who knows where or when

But when he left your loving arms

He sure was born again

Why, Jessica Hahn, Jessica Hahn

I forgot the words- I bless the day you were born

I'd love to get caught in a storm with

Jessica, Jessica

Jessica, Jessica

Jessica, Jessica Hahn

I sang that song. He brought her back on the show, Arsenio Hall, a few months later, and she said, "why does that man want me to go into show business and sing?" Then she heard the song tha t he played, you know, a few 2 months later to her and she smiled and said nothing. Uh...
