We make it up and you stay
If I break the rules that you play
Tell me that you want it, tell me there's no need to show it
But you don't see what I see, you never will What's it about, all the same
I let it flow and you play
Hide it if I wanted, don't need you to make me honest
Cause the trouble that will follow is unreal

I said hey, hey
Living on the run
Pulling at the strings 'til the lights turn on
It's too late
Living on the run, but we're staring at the wall
Cause I said hey, hey
Living on the run
Pulling at the strings 'til the lights turn on
It's too late
Living on the run, but we're staring at the wall

Cause I keep moving, I keep moving, I keep moving along
And will you be here when we start finding what we're searching for
Cause I keep moving, I keep moving, I keep moving along

We all seem to find the way
I never share to keep safe
He said there's no other way, but I'm not standing in the shade
I'm running 'round in circles, caught between whatever thing they say
When time is up and they pay
They too left, they'll say
Give us what you got 'cause we have everything you want
And we are ready for it, reaching for the top

I said hey, hey
Living on the run
Pulling at the strings 'til the lights turn on
It's too late
Living on the run, but we're staring at the wall
Cause I said hey, hey
Living on the run
Pulling at the strings 'til the lights turn on
It's too late
Living on the run, but we're staring at the wall

Cause I keep moving, I keep moving, I keep moving along
And will you be here when we start finding what we're searching for
Cause I keep moving, I keep moving, I keep moving along

Building up on my walls, looking greater than China
I took my time on this, my hands getting so brighter
I try to widen my brain, the body's getting so wider
Same story, same games, lanes never change ways
And they always sample our moves in different pieces
[?] I'm finding my reason, thesis
Little did they know, I see what's real and what's in their mind
I can tell they truly don't care
