

Your Welcome

Toby Lightman

Thought you were pulling all the wool over my eyes
Thought you covered up your trail with a pack of lies
Thought you could handle my heart and betray it too
Guess we're learning quite a lot about me and you

Always blaming me
That I drove you to it
Now it's plain to see

That it was you who done me wrong
You who led me on
I'm leaving you baby, you're driving me crazy
You who ran around
All over town
And you who went and wore your welcome out

Funny how all your dirty tables have turned
For the man who played with fire was the one getting burned
You should think more than twice for the next I suppose
'Cause you're not welcome here, this house is closed

How'd we come to this
Yeah we've reached the ending
No more loving kiss

When it was you who done me wrong
You who led me on
I'm leaving you baby, you're driving me crazy
You who ran around
All over town
And you who went and wore your welcome out

Why, why, why you made me cry
Oh, oh, oh how was I to know
You, yeah you, would act like you do
Why, why, why you made me cry
Oh, oh, oh you sunk so low
You, yeah you, it comes back to you

It was you who done me wrong
You who led me on
I'm leaving you baby, you're driving me crazy
You who ran around
All over town
And you who went and wore your
You who done me wrong
You who led me on
I'm leaving you baby, you're driving me crazy
You who ran around
All over town
And you who went and wore your welcome out
