

Everything About You

TobyMac

When the whole room's staring at you
You can't run from the shadows
And the light can't seem to get through
When your soul has no window
When all you want's to fly away
To spread your wings and feel okay
Just make it through another day, without you

I miss everything about you
I just miss being around you
Out of sight, out of mind
Don't add up, not this time
It's the cold truth
I miss everything

When the grey falls out of the sky
And then lands on your shoulders
And when a nightmare walks through your door
You live it over and over

You want the truth to be a lie
To say hello, no sad goodbyes
You're gone, I'm here
My world is dry without you

I miss everything about you
I just miss being around you
Out of sight, out of mind
Don't add up, not this time
It's the cold truth
I miss everything

I miss everything

The way you smile, the way you talk
The times we laughed, the times we fought
The things I said, the times you called
Sometimes I feel it's all my fault

I can hear you in my head
Things you said still echoing
The only way you loved was hard
And I'm left driving your old car

I miss everything about you
I just miss being around you
Out of sight, out of mind
Don't add up, not this time
It's the cold, cold truth
I miss everything

About you
About you
Ooh, I miss everything
About you