

Holyland

Todd Rundgren

For as long as I remember
I've been searching for the holyland
From across the ocean
Over the mountain to the desert sand
Under every rock and stone
Looking for a sacred plan

But now I understand
This is the holyland
Every drop of rain
Blade of grass
Grain of sand
Is in the holyland

Everywhere I go I see it
Even though so many want to stake their claim
They say history and gods foretell the answer
Conjure up some ancient game
Take away the gates and fences
Everything is all the same

No matter where you stand
You're in the holyland
Every hill and dale
Mountain stream
Forest stand
Earth is the holyland
