

He stares
Squinting through the sunlight
There's a tear in the sky
And it bleeds red
And burns bright

All night
I ride the wave along
That takes me
Right through the door
Of my sanity

I feel the rush, rush
Without your touch, touch
Washing over me
I feel so much, much
Without your touch, touch
There's something wrong with me

He's an unknown, yeah
And he don't care
Whenever I want him
He'll be right here
Just how I like him
Just how I like him
I scream when I'm mad
But you don't talk back
I know you're not real
But I'm good with that
Just how I like him
Just how I like him

I close my eyes
But I never sleep
I think you live in my head
Counting the stars
Watching over me

I feel the rush, rush
Without your touch, touch
Washing over me
I feel so much much
Without your touch, touch
There's something wrong with me

He's an unknown, yeah
And he don't care
Whenever I want him
He'll be right here
Just how I like him
Just how I like him
I scream when I'm mad
But you don't talk back
I know you're not real
But I'm good with that
Just how I like him
Just how I like him

He stares
Squinting through the sunlight
There's a tear in the sky
And it bleeds red
And burns bright

He's an unknown, yeah
And he don't care
Whenever I want him
He'll be right here
Just how I like him
Just how I like him
I scream when I'm mad
But you don't talk back
I know you're not real
But I'm good with that (I'm good with that)
Just how I like him
Just how I like him (Or maybe I'm mad)