

What dreams do you hold
That no one ever meets
What lies were you told
To keep you on your feet

Cause I heard a few
They tore me apart
But I know what is true

In my unseen heart
My darkened part
You think you may know me
But I do not show me
On my unseen heart

So how long must I wait
To tell you how I feel
What role must I play
Until I can be real

What would you do
If I were to impart
The life that is true

In my unseen heart
My darkened part
You think you may know me
But I do not show me
In my unseen heart

So long until I do
So long, till then adieu!

In my unseen heart
My darkened part
And if I could show you
Where would I start
On my unseen heart
