

I Remember You

Tom Chaplin

I remember you
You are really me
Standing in the sea
Watching as the waves
End your happy days
Many moons ago
And longer than you know

Yeah if I close my eyes
I can see you fighting in the tide
And it's so hard to let the memory die
So I just wanna know if you're alright

And so, I build a big machine
It's cleverer than I, I could ever dream
I get inside and I'm Traveling through time
Stepping out the door
I find I'm by the shore

I don't believe my eyes
But somehow you are standing at my side
It's good to know that you are still alive

Cos I remember you
You are really me
Drowning in the sea
Swallowed by the rush of the rising tide
Tethered to a rock
Picking at a lock
All the while the fire inside you dies
So what else can I do
But remember you
Yeah
