All I Get From You Is Heartaches

Tom Jones

I gave you my world
I gave you my dreams
I gave you my soul and now it just seems
All I get from you are heartaches

I traded my love for only your charms I gave you my heart
My lips and my arms
And all I get from you are heartaches

It isn't fair to take all I gave you And return the hurt like you do

I've tried every way to save you From breaking my heart in two

Oh, I'd do it again if I had the chance Go through it again Though I know in advance All I get from you are heartaches

While someone else is getting all your love Getting all your love All I get from you are heartaches Ooh, yeah
