

Whose Side Are You On

Tommee Profitt

There's two sides to every story
But I don't know how this one ends
You want fire and you want glory
But there's a struggle that lies within

There's a war in my head and I don't understand
How we ended up here
There's a tear in my heart where your lies left a mark
And now nothing is clear

Whose side are you on?
Whose side are you on?
War lines have been drawn
Whose side are you on?

Light and dark are intertwining
Standing here face to face
Betrayal burns and there's no hiding
It cuts deeper than a razor blade

There's a war in my head and I don't understand
How we ended up here
There's a tear in my heart where your lies left a mark
And now nothing is clear

Whose side are you on?
Whose side are you on?
War lines have been drawn
Whose side are you on?
Whose side are you on?