I'm staring down this empty street
And its cold but I am walking
To the place where all roads meet
And its just the past and me
A tattoo and a scar
And the man in the ty

Every time I walk away i see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why Now I stand here on my own And I'm finally letting go Its time to say goodbye

So down this road I travel now Pass broken buildings where I look for truth, were they true to me, no
Every step is stepped with doubt
But still I walk here trying to find some peace
Will I find peace?

Every time I walk away i see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why Now I stand here on my own And I'm finally letting go Its time to say goodbye

Nothings gonna stand in my way No, nothing no nothing will stand in my way Nothings gonna stand in my way, yeah, hey

Every time I walk away i see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why Now I stand here on my own And I'm finally letting go Its time to say goodbye

Every time I walk away i see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why Now I stand here on my own And I'm finally letting go Its time to say goodbye