

Time

Tommy Page

I remember the day you said goodbye
Something was calling you I could read it in your eyes
You told me that someday we'd meet again
But deep inside I always knew this was the end
I remember those words you claimed
As I stood in the pouring rain
When I showed my heart would never be the same

You told me time will always heal the pain
Bring the sun and dry the rain
We need time to solve and think our problems through
You told me time is always on my side
To turn the season, change the tide
Things work out with time if you want them to
Why can't time make me stop loving you

It wasn't very easy when you left
Every mention of your name would get me so upset
I trapped my emotions deep inside
I acted like I didn't care with hopes this would subside
I remember those words you claimed
As I stood in the pouring rain
When I showed my heart would never be the same

You told me time will always heal the pain
Bring the sun and dry the rain
We need time to solve and think our problems through
You told me time is always on my side
To turn the season, change the tide
Things work out with time if you want them to
Why can't time make me stop

I try to get you off my mind
(I love you)
I live my life just wasting time
Hoping that someday I can say the same

Time will always heal the pain
Bring the sun, dry the rain
Things work out with time if you want them to
(Time)

Time will always heal the pain
Bring the sun, dry the rain
We need time to solve and think our problems through
You told me time is always on my side
To turn the season, change the tide
Things work out with time if you want them to
Why can't time make me stop loving you
Loving you
Loving you
