

Right Back in the Fire

Tony Joe White

Do you remember the first time
Do your lips still feel the same
You move close and whisper real low
Baby, there's only one way for you to know

And we're right back in the fire
Burning out of control
Right back in the fire
Either one of us can let it go

I sent a postcard from overseas
Do you know what your handwritten letters meant to me
Does the rain still sound the same on your roof
You hold me close sweet baby
The rains been waiting for you

Right back in the fire
Close to the flame
Right back in the fire
And we know
You'll never change

I believe time stands still when we're apart
And you were all that I can feel in my heart

Right back in the fire
It's where I want to be
Right back in the fire
It burns slow for you and me
Right back in the fire
Close to the flame
Right back in the fire
And we both know it's never gonna change
