

Jubilee

Toothgrinder

I tend to lie cheek and jowl with the arcane
I'm quite plain, where mountains reign with depth and space
My western noir and my lover's lace
I keep my madness to myself
Jubilee, don't you worry, the money's worth the wait
And for that I'm sorry, I am sorry, I am

I've fallen back into my head
Hit the road, say goodbye, never know how long I'll try
I've fallen back into my head
I love you, my sweet friend, maybe one day see the end

I tend to lie cheek and jowl with the arcane
I can be insane, I keep my sadness to myself
Queen bee, don't you worry, the honey's worth the wait
And for that I'm sorry, I am sorry, I am

I've fallen back into my head
Hit the road, say goodbye, never know how long I'll try
I've fallen back into my head
I love you, my sweet friend, maybe one day see the end
Honey one day we'll see the end
Darling one day we'll see the end
Sweetie one day we'll see the end
Maybe one day we'll see the end