

Artificial limits

Torres

Recently I've been dreaming nightly of a ship
Capsizing, all of us inside

If you're here it means you've survived
Your own death sentence
So rest in pleasure now
No more artificial limits

Took me this long to realize a flame casts no shadow
I'm not sayin' I've let my darkness go
But it's like I'm learning to float
It's gettin' hot under my skin
Think I'm starting to glow

There are no safe places, people or things
And in spite of everything
Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now

If you're here it means you've survived
Your own death sentence
So rest in pleasure now
No more artificial limits

So we've got our insanities
So we are inclined to bleed
We could let these be our strengths

There are no safe places, people or things
And in spite of everything
Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now

Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now

Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now
Anything could happen now