

Big Leap

Torres

I was on my way to see a seer on 14th
The morning you fell thirty feet
Your body broken on concrete
Across the country in the Georgia heat

Somehow you're still here
Got a birthday in three weeks
But now all I can do is cry and worry
I hounded you to stay on the ground
It'll haunt me forever, the way you came down

I am diabolically truthful
And I live beyond illusion
My view of the hour from up there in my tower
Or down here prostrate to a psychic

It's all the same to me
I have never known peace
Now all I can do is cry and worry
I hounded you to stay on the ground
It'll haunt me forever, the way you came down
You never listen to me
You took such a big leap
