

Still Life

Tors

God only knows we're
Headed to nowhere
Why do we go there
As fast as we do?

So undecided
Scared of the silence
Growing inside us
Filling the room
That we don't talk about

You say yes, and I say no
Can we fix a broken home
If we never try?

Build me up to break me down
Would you even miss me now?
If I said goodbye

I wish I knew it was all for the best
Watch our words as they fall to the edge of a still life
Is this what it feels like?

To know, we can fight till we run out of breath
Fill our lungs as we try to forget what it feels like
If we don't make it out now stuck in a still life

How did this happen?
I couldn't imagine
We would abandon
Something so good

Used to be weightless
Now we're so wasted
Nothing could save us
From facing the truth
That we don't talk about

You say yes, and I say no
Can we fix a broken home
If we never try?

Build me up to break me down
Would you even miss me now?
If I said goodbye

I wish I knew it was all for the best
Watch our words as they fall to the edge of a still life
Is this what it feels like?

To know, we can fight till we run out of breath
Fill our lungs as we try to forget what it feels like
If we don't make it out now stuck in a still life

I wish I knew it was all for the best
Watch our words as they fall to the edge of a still life
Is this what it feels like?

To know, we can fight till we run out of breath
Fill our lungs as we try to forget what it feels like
If we don't make it out now stuck in a still life
