

Far from content but I create for all the relative
So if he knockin' at the door then you should let him in See I could give you all the advice that I could recommend but I don't know so sit here and tell me what you represent
See I resent those who are focused on the negatives
They pessimists, I'm living positive so let me live
See what's the point of living life that I haven't figured out yet
So if he here then just tell me right now [?]

But I say, right here right now
I could give a fuck how anything might sound
I just want to feel your energy
Can you feel that energy

But I say, right here right now
I could give a fuck how anything might sound
I just want to feel your energy
Can you feel that energy

I know you feel it
It's taking over, it's taking over

I know you feel it
It's taking over, it's taking over

I know you feel it
It's taking over, it's taking over

I know you feel it
It's taking over, it's taking over

I know you feel it
Can't deny, but can't describe it
What a feelin'
Waves is flowing they overriding how I see it
Through these islands so enlightening I can show you
I can show you the deeper meaning right now
I dig so deep that it get hard to climb out
And it's the closest you been to notice the answers you've been trying to find out
So focus, this emotion and I'll provoke it on water and this the ocean but at this moment I tell her

But I say, right here right now
I could give a fuck how anything might sound
I just want to feel your energy
Can you feel that energy

But I say, right here right now
I could give a fuck how anything might sound
I just want to feel your energy
Can you feel that energy