

Clouds

Tow'rs

It hits you like a screaming train
Tryin' to catch your breath between the waves
I don't know what to say, the words won't satisfy

So much is said but not explained
Why love is worth its share of pain
I don't know where it's all headed, but I can stay here tonight

Until the clouds all roll away, roll
Roll away your clouds

I hate to see you circling the drain
A drink to lullaby the pain
I don't know how it feels
But I'll wait by your side

Until the clouds all roll away, roll
Roll away your clouds
Until the clouds all roll away, roll
Roll away your clouds

Blue skies are comin', wait for the light now, we'll probably be okay
Blue skies are comin', wait for the light now, roll those clouds away
Blue skies are comin', wait for the light now, we'll probably be okay
We'll probably be okay, roll away, we'll probably be okay, roll
We'll probably be okay, roll away your clouds, we'll probably be okay
We'll probably be okay, roll away, we'll probably be okay, roll
We'll probably be okay, roll away your clouds, we'll probably be okay

So bring your feet back to the ground
Your minds a damn merry-go-round
I don't know how this ends
But I've got a good feeling
