

Kinetic Closure

Toxik

Something new and not achieved
The desire for a life you still believe And do the things you want to do manifest self-complete and true

You give it all you take none away
The only thing that can be saved
No goal attained so a thirst remains the fight for more begins again

All of your talents... in total disclosure
Focused the lens... to amp the exposure
The gordian knot... that tests your composure
Leading you to... Kinetic Closure

What you have written and what you have laid is part of the fabric that can never be changed Back in the past and what you have been are only the shadows of moments within

What's ending is now what's over is then The particle happening is happening again now finish what's started to punctuate clean and pay an homage to a childhood dream

All of your talents... in total disclosure
Focused the lens... to amp the exposure
The gordian knot... that tests your composure
Leading you to... Kinetic Closure