Trace Cyrus

Our love turned to a sad song
Ever since we broke up everything seems fucked up
I was living sober but once again it's over
Constantly in my head I repeat the words you said
It was meant to hurt me and it was well deserving
Thought you didn't want me I'd live forever lonely
Wish I could take back all my actions they never lead to satisfaction

Taylor would you fucking give me a shot
I know you love me a lot but I lost your trust and you're gone
Regret the past but I can never change it
This pain I can't deal with our love turned to a sad song

Since you went on your way out I've been feeling way down
You blocked out my excuses now I'm the one that's losing
To kill the time I just sleep I wake up drink then repeat
All I see is bad dreams then I hear more bad news can never seem to find you
I'm focused on the mission to get you back but you don't listen
Baby come back to me

Taylor would you fucking give me a shot
I know you love me a lot but I lost your trust and you're gone
Regret the past but I can never change it
This pain I can't deal with our love turned to a sad song

We broke up then we got back
My mistakes left in the past
Came back to haunt me
Now you don't want me
You're my angel don't leave me falling
Broken wings and champagne glass
The celebration it won't last
All my secrets have been told
Life is short and love is cold

Taylor would you fucking give me a shot
I know you love me a lot but I lost your trust and you're gone
Regret the past but I can never change it
This pain I can't deal with our love turned to a sad song
Taylor would you fucking give me a shot
I know you love me a lot but I lost your trust and you're gone
Regret the past but I can never change it
This pain I can't deal with our love turned to a sad song
