

Fallen Leaves

Tracedawn

These are the first words of my last words
They may not last long
This is my farewell from me
My farewell to me

These fallen leaves of my life
Tell that I have to go
The lights has been tolled by the night
Time to find another home
Behind the curtains of deaths
Without these fallen leaves

The earth has taken all
That I one day might have touched
Even my roots are gone
So my time is over the final leap awaits

And I will grow another tree
With roots of iron to the ground of eternity
I will grow another tree
Without these fallen leaves

I'll continue my journey
Path neverending

The sun is setting I can feel
How the ink is getting dry
I close the letter I close the seal
Now its time to say goodbye
Now its time to die

Time has taken my reasons to love
My hope my hate my ambition all gone
And within my soul I'll leave this all
Within my heart I'll leave this all
Leave this all

People come people go
Time goes by but it doesn't come around
Just hold fast with me my soul
For now I'm ready to go

And I will grow another tree
With roots of iron
To the ground of eternity
I will grow another tree
Without these fallen leaves

I'll continue my journey
Path neverending

I'll continue my journey
Path neverending
I'll continue my journey
I'm near at the end

These are the last words of my last words

They may not last long
My farewell to you

The pain has passed my mind is at ease
Only light remains
How blessed am I

Here at the side of an angel
In eternal grace
I have found a new home
