

Black Tears

Tracy Bonham

Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears

Puddles of black, your eyes are silent truths
Sharpen your wings and cut the sky blues
Live on a string when everything is all plants

I won't beg for your love for it's all mine to give I've waited this long, it doesn't matter if
Curious eyes bring curious things to life
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears

Heavy drunk, I cannot promise you
That they will stop, it's all that I can do
Promise to catch them wherever they should land

Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears

You'll be watching when a God heavy's fall

Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears
Black tears, black tears