

I'm Done

Tracy Lawrence

Life hit me when I wasn't looking
It dealt me a hard hand to play
I felt betrayed and forsaken
But I've been making the wrong people play

I'm done
I'm done

I spent my last night in that prison
Where anger and pride were the bars
Hey, I'm hear to tell ya I'm making peace with the past
And I'm not ashamed of my scars

But I'm done

I'm done harboring grudges and nursing old wounds
Done clinging to grudges and singing the blues
I'm done pointing fingers at everyone else
I'm taking a long, hard look at myself
A new day has begun
And I'm done

I called up somebody who'd hurt me
We finally settled that score
I had a right to be bitter revenge would've been sweet
But forgiveness is what ended that war

I'm starting to see the big picture
These days, I'm getting high off of that
No more killing my pain with a three day binge
That train has run out of track

I'm done

I'm done harboring grudges and nursing old wounds
Done clinging to grudges and singing the blues
I'm done pointing fingers at everyone else
I'm taking a long, hard look at myself

I'm spending more time with the people I love
The ones who will cry at my funeral
I'm done feeling hopeless, no, I'm not going there
I'm greeting each morning with a smile and a prayer
A new day has begun

A new day has begun
A new day has begun
