

Remember The Rain

Trae

I'd like to dedicate this right here (Yea, this right here)
To all my women who going through a struggle
You know I can understand
I ain't immune to the type of pain you've been exposed to
So this one right here
I'm a represent for each and every one of y'all
Yea, let's go to my single mothers
Raising a house full of kids (no daddies)
Even the ones who've been beat up and abused
Raped and left for loss (Damn)
You know even the babies out here havin' babies
I understand this a part of reality
Even my women on lock
All for protecting their set

He said he'd never touch you again
He left you prayin' for the lord to get with ya
A thousand tears leaving your face for every time that he hits ya
Still so far from happy days but nowhere close to a smile
Trying to deal with the fact he did this shit in front of ya child
Everything inside your heart telling you pack up and go
But the hardest thing out your life is tryna walk out that door
Cause once you leave you know it ain't no turning back, you gotta move on Don't worry about the stressing, deep inside you know that you strong
God said you a queen therefore you gotta put that shoe on
And walk in it with pride for all the pain and hurt that you saw
Come on! Past situations got you with your head lower
Looking at the girl in the mirror but you swear you don't know her
They say strugglin' makes a woman at a faster rate
Even if she physically damaged it make her spirit great
You need a chance, a real nigga steppin' to the plate
To get ya out the horror before it's too late

Baby girl dry your eyes, you gotta try to keep it together
They told me pain don't last forever
Instead of raining tears away they think you gotta pray to get better
The sun gon shine on you no matter the weather
It ain't a day to come that I don't wanna see you smile
I know you on a road that won't be endin' for a while
I'm a holla at the homie up above for ya, hold ya head
Real niggas got love for ya

I know you goin' through it for real
So words can't express how I feel
Each and every one of your struggles make you one in a mill
I know it's hard bein' alone raising a house full of kids
And every day you do your best to try to handle your bizz
Not knowin' how you gon survive so you turn to strippin' or drugs
Couple pills to compensate in the place of lookin' for love
It don't matter where you been, you just need to know where you goin'
You wearin' your body ragged, I'm tellin' ya cause it's showin'
Everybody get a second chance plus it ain't no room to be a victim of a circumstance
You're something special, Jesus put you here to handle pressure
He'd made that, listen, if you think you're slippin' He won't let ya
And to the babies even know they weak ass daddies left em, they still a bles sin'

They angels in disguise that's why I ride without a question
If you ever catch a person tryna treat you like trash
Holla at me, I'll come kick they ass

Baby girl dry your eyes, you gotta try to keep it together
They told me pain don't last forever
Instead of raining tears away they think you gotta pray to get better
The sun gon shine on you no matter the weather
It ain't a day to come that I don't wanna see you smile
I know you on a road that won't be endin' for a while
I'm a holla at the homie up above for ya, hold ya head
Real niggas got love for ya

Ain't no way to take back a life full of drama
Speaking for the streets, I must apologize
Don't think you alone, I lost 2 sisters to a homicide
This my testimony to let you know how much you mean
You can be whatever you dream
You gotta know that you're better than this so stop with the lies
You say it's all good, I can see the doubt in your eyes
I know you fightin' for your life so why you actin' surprised?
You gotta wake up 'fore you end up somewhere hospitalized
And I don't wanna see it
I know the rain is so familiar, step inside, take a seat
And let it out until they feel you, your sun is on the way
And through the faith you bound to end up seeing better days
That there's enough to give you new life in so many ways
That's why I dedicate this song for the life that you been through
And every obstacle in life that you might just run into
It ain't too many who can fill up your space
So you deserve to put a smile on your face
Come on

Baby girl dry your eyes, you gotta try to keep it together
They told me pain don't last forever
Instead of raining tears away they think you gotta pray to get better
The sun gon shine on you no matter the weather
It ain't a day to come that I don't wanna see you smile
I know you on a road that won't be endin' for a while
I'm a holla at the homie up above for ya, hold ya head
Real niggas got love for ya
