

I Want To Want What I Want

Trapt

Bonded to it in chains I'm left
Stormy winter in the cold I'm left
No one breaking through to me just yet
I can look in your eyes, you feel the same yourself

Stolen wishes give it all away
Just one life left for me to save
No one breaking through to you this way
Would you look in my eyes? How can I change?

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have a need
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have these needs
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want

Break me down before you build me up
Aren't you clever when you push your luck?
Are you breaking through to anyone?
I can see in your eyes you haven't even begun

Draw me in and then you start to run
Make me chase you 'til I come undone
Am I breaking through to you for once?
There's a look in your eyes I finally won

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have a need
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have these needs
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want

When the bonds are broken
When the ties are severed clean
When it's me who's chosen
I can be anything

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have a need
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have a need
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I don't want to have to have these needs
I want to want what I want
I just want to be set free

I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want
I want to want what I want
