

Too Far Away

Trapt

Too far away, too far away
Too far away, too far away

It's a war of words and we're digging in
Miles away from seeing eye to eye
We never look for the common ground
Miles away we never compromise

I don't listen well
But you don't listen any better
We both have to yell
Louder and louder right over each other

I can't hear you now
Can't hear you screaming anymore
You won't hear me out
Yeah, nothing gets through

I think we're too far away
I think we're too far apart on everything
The longer we build the bridges
The farther we want to stay
I think we're too far away
Too far away

The sharpest tongue couldn't cut it's way
Through to you I'll never get inside
Your skin's too thick, got your armor on
Can't get through, can't get you on my side

I don't listen well
But you don't listen any better
We both have to yell
Louder and louder right over each other

I can't hear you now
Can't hear you screaming anymore
You won't hear me out
Yeah, nothing gets through

I think we're too far away
I think we're too far apart on everything
The longer we build the bridges
The farther we want to stay
I think we're too far away
Too far away

We get lost in translation
We can't stop this isolation

I don't listen well
But you don't listen any better
We both have to yell
Louder and louder right over each other

I can't hear you now

You won't hear me out

I think we're too far away
I think we're too far apart on everything
The longer we build the bridges
Too far away
