

Tension between you and me
Just thought I would mention
It's a vibe I've been sensing
I can feel the connection
Just a lack of direction
A whole lotta projection
A lesson I feel like we already learned in blood

I can't escape the flood
And I don't wanna die
Don't give em what they want to tear us apart
I know you wanna fight
But all we do is fight
Until we all forget the reason why

You burn it all like it's a game
Rebuild the wall and carve your name
Like an altar it's always the same
You burn it all like it's a game

I see the power in front of me
And I see the vultures devour it
Thinking they can change the world
To make their own law but can't buy my fucking soul
You think that you're the protagonist
You only ever say follow me
But you never know that I'm bleeding
And you deceive me
I'd rather be a pessimist
Where's the therapist?
(I don't feel like I can ignore)
(And I don't feel like I can let go)
Tell me why you need the answer so badly
(I don't feel like I can ignore)
(And I don't feel like I can let go)
I can tell you letting go is necessary

What will be left when the story ends

You burn it all like it's a game
Rebuild the wall and carve your name
Like an altar it's always the same
You burn it all like it's a game

I bet you feel like you're ahead
You broke the wheel? You rolled instead
Now I can't get you out of my head
You broke the wheel? You rolled instead

Voices calling, voices crying
Whoever is filthy let him be filthy let him be filthy still
Some are born and some are dying
Whoever is right, whoever is righteous let him be righteous still

Broke the wheel? You rolled instead
Burn it all down like it's a game

You'd burn it all like it's a game
Rebuild the wall and carve your name
Like an altar it's always the same
You'd burn it all like it's a game

I bet you feel like you're ahead
You broke the wheel? You rolled instead
Now I can't get you out of my head
You broke the wheel? You rolled instead