Found

Travis Cottrell

Somewhere deep inside me I found You
Your sunlight shakes the morning sky
How'd You ever find me through the blue
Of my darkest night

And all, and all, and all my life
You're all I've never known
You're all I need to feel alive
This heart has found its home

No one need remind me where I've been
In younger years I'd gone astray
Somewhere down the wrong road you took my hand
And led me here today

And all, and all, and all my life
You're all I've never known
You're all I need to feel alive
This heart has found its home
This heart has found its home

Right where I've always longed to be
Though never seemed to find
Until your grace opened up my eyes

And all, and all, and all my life
You're all I've never known
You're all I need to feel alive
This heart has found its home
This heart has found its home
