

Beer's Better Cold

Travis Denning

I know two lanes roll a little slower
Then a wide open, four-wide highway
Every day, everybody gets older
And every break ain't gonna fall my way
Church gets out at twelve, no later
While I'm rambling all about no brainers

Beer's better cold, deuces always fold
Green herons fly south for the winter
Levi's fade, it's hotter in the shade in a Georgia July than De cember
Yeah, touchdown six, seven with a kick
A good song hits home
And it's always gonna be like that
Yeah, it's just a fact that beer's better cold
And she ain't coming back

Yeah, last kiss always last longer
In your head than it does on your lips
She'll be my one that got away long goner
And it's just as obvious as

Beer's better cold, deuces always fold
Green herons fly south for the winter
Levi's fade, it's hotter in the shade in a Georgia July than De cember
Yeah, touchdown six, seven with a kick
A good song hits home
And it's always gonna be like that
Yeah, it's just a fact that beer's better cold
And she ain't coming back

To these arms, back to this town
Back down those I ain't ever coming back around roads
No, it don't take Einstein to know

Yeah, beer's better cold, deuces always fold
Green herons fly south for the winter
Levi's fade, it's hotter in the shade in a Georgia July than De
cember
Yeah, touchdown six, seven with a kick
A good song hits home
And it's always gonna be like that
Yeah, it's just a fact that beer's better cold
Yeah, beer's better cold
And she ain't coming back
Nah, she ain't coming back
