

Traipse

Tremonti

Traipse to the back of the wood
Told you that I could
Quieted by the storm
Shake til the fear is gone
Plunge to the deep of the lake
Took all I could take
Found a new strength in me
Now I move on to the sea

Cold is the light of the sun
Black as the lack of love
Body and soul born of steel
Sharp now for the kill
Oh let me, let me down
Oh let me, let me drown

Traipse to the edge of the sea
Could be the end of me
My heart and the deep become one
I remain just for fun
Emerge on the far other side
Look on ahead and smile
I'm eager to rise again
All troubles to the wind

Bold is the light of the sun
Forgiving and full of love
Yearn now for time to stand still
These mountains, another hill
Oh let me, let me down
Oh let me, let me drown

Let me see ya
Let me see you rise
Offer me your worst
Could you try
Let me end ya
Let me seal your fate
Let me be your curse
All your hate

Cold is the light of your sun
Stripping away the love
When me and the deep become one
The rapture again is gone
Oh let me, let me down
Oh let me, let me drown