

A Thousand Nights

Trent Dabbs

Somewhere it went south tonight desire turned to change
The same road that lead you here is leading you astray
Your falling off the face of a world you can't explain When your friends feel more like echos you don't hear back from again
Deep in the distance I know you hear this
Where you gonna go when your wildfire heart blows out
No one cares anymore
Another face in the cards we'll call this town getting lost in the fold
I'll tell you something the others won't
It took a thousand nights to get to warmth
Your heroes bleed like villains if you can get close enough Rather soot that were in and you become the one who'd judge
Deep in the distance I know you hear this
Where you gonna go when your wildfire heart blows out
No one cares anymore
Another face in the cards we'll call this town getting lost in
the fold
I'll tell you something the others won't
It took a thousand nights to get to warmth
You born afraid of the hairy rays can realize you are loved
You can't hear those words the same
You can't hear the song unsong
Deep in the distance I know you hear this
Where you gonna go when your wildfire heart blows out
No one cares anymore
Another face in the cards we'll call this town getting lost in
the fold
I'll tell you something the others won't
It took a thousand nights to get to warmth
